

N.H. Preservation Alliance's 2020 Seven to Save

Judge Ripley House,
Colebrook

A circa 1870 Greek Revival residence that combines next-generation workforce development and community investment to save a valuable in-town building.

St. Joseph Church,
Laconia

The future of this imposing downtown granite structure is uncertain, although it's hoped that the Catholic Diocese of Manchester will allow a compatible re-use rather than destruction.

Reviving this 1842 classic Greek and Gothic Revival building is the next critical step in maintaining the historic village center of this tiny rural community.

Langdon Congregational
Church

Built in 1781 and expanded with a second story, this center of civic life and home to town offices and the local historical society needs a major investment to keep it viable for public use.

Mont Vernon Town Hall

Tilton Island Park Bridge

This graceful arch over the Winnepesaukee River, connecting Main Street to Tilton Island Park, is a rare example of a combination cast-iron and wrought-iron truss bridge and needs careful evaluation and preservation.

Gasholder Building,
Concord

This distinctive round brick building with its tilting cupola, a landmark along I-93, has been neglected for decades. Current owner Liberty Utilities plans to apply for a demolition permit by the end of this year.
